A Bad Day

4th May, 2024

Sunny

Something unexpected happened this afternoon. This afternoon I had a dancing class and I went home by minibus after school. When I was playing on the phone in the minibus, an uncle got on the minibus with a sandwich in his hand. He was chatting on the phone at the same time.

The minibus got moving when he walked to me. He wanted to take the seat next to me. Suddenly, he dropped a piece of sandwich on the seat. I was worried that he would drop another piece of sandwich onto my school uniform. Then it happened. He dropped another piece of sandwich on my school uniform. I was angry. I said, 'Oh! My school uniform was stained!'

He felt sorry and he apologized to me. He gave me some money as the compensation for the school uniform. I forgave him.

I sent the school uniform for dry cleaning immediately as I was back home. Today was really a bad day!

Teacher's comment: Good job! You described what happened with details by using proper adjectives.
